Stevenson Hits Risk of War Over Two Islands; Asks Defense of Formosa

Democratic Party Chief Outlines 3-Point Proposal

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Adlai E. Stevenson has called on President Eisenhower and the nation to rally its allies for the defense of Formosa instead of risking a third world war over Quemoy and Matsu islands.

Stevenson, titular leader of the Democratic Party and its 1952 presidential candidate, broke a four

City Accepts Lake Harrisburg After Inspection

Construction on Lake Harrisburg has been completed and the lake accepted by the city.

Monday afternoon members of the water board accompanied Ralph Brown and Rob Roy Brown, city engineers for the lake project, on a tour of inspection of Lake Harrisburg and declared the lake to be completed.

The Browns, or one of their representatives, were present during the construction of the huge water project and declared the construction to be in accordance with the approved plans.

It was stated the contract was completed at a savings of $15,100. The bid for constructing the earthen dam, spillways, roadways and gatehouse was $32,574.50. However, when the unit prices were added, it was found the cost was $22,059.80, a total of $515.10 less than bid.

This includes rip-rapping the inside of the dam.

However, after the roadway through the lake was built it was found that rip-rapping of the banks would be necessary and this was done at a cost of $3,920.60. This cost was not covered by the bid, making the total cost of the project $55,980.40.

The outside of the huge dam was dressed down and disced late last week and seeded Friday. The rainfall Sunday afternoon and evening gave it a good soaking just when needed.

It was estimated Monday afternoon that the lake was about one and a half feet below capacity. When filled it will hold a three years' water supply for the city of Harrisburg.

Baima PMW Appeal Election Denied

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—The Progressive Mine Workers today announced that an appeal by George Baima, Bend, contesting the election of Edgar Manley, Harrisburg, as PMW secretary-treasurer has been denied.

The independent union said in its publication, "The Progressive Miner," that the PMW district executive board had declared Manley elected to the office for the term ending Jan. 31, 1957.

The announcement said the decision in Manley's favor was unanimous.

The union also announced that an audit showed the PMW had a balance of $136,978 in its Treasury Feb. 1. The audit listed income of $114,262 and expenses of $159,565 in the six months ended Jan. 31.

Polk Heads City School Board

Bruce Polk was elected president of the Harrisburg City school board at the organization meeting of the board Monday evening.

L. N. Davenport was re-elected secretary.

Mr. Polk succeeds Curtis Small who had served as president for the past two years.

Officers of the board are selected from board membership following each school election. At the election Saturday, Mr. Small, Vernard Clayton and Hudson Muge were re-elected for 3-year terms. George Barnes and J. A. Bottomley, Mr. Polk and Mr. Davenport were hold-over members.

Earle Benjamin Searcy, Supreme Court Clerk, Dies

HINSDALE, Ill. (U.P.)—Earle Benjamin Searcy, clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court, dropped dead of a heart attack Monday just after he had begun to speak before the Hinsdale Women's Republican Club.

Searcy, 67, was serving his second term as court clerk.

He was speaking before a group of about two dozen women when he slumped to the floor.

Firemen's efforts to revive him with a Pulmotor were useless.

"He was dead when I arrived," Dr. Paul G. Frederickson said. "It was an obvious coronary attack."

Former State Treasurer Elmer Hoffman was summoned to inform Searcy's family in Springfield and to return the body to the state capital.

A GOP Power

Searcy was a powerful figure in downstate Republican politics for three decades or more.

A native of Palmyra, Ill., Searcy was graduated from Blackburn College in Carlinville in 1908. He was on the editorial staff of the Illinois State Journal until World War I.

He rose from a private in the infantry to the rank of second lieutenant.

Searcy was a founder and organizer of the American Legion and was a delegate to its St. Louis caucus in May, 1919. He was elected the first state adjutant of the Legion in Illinois.

Surviving are his widow, Fay, and two children, Earl B. Jr. of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Barbara Jane Wells Damewood of St. Louis.

Stratton Expresses Shock

Gov. William G. Stratton said it was a "stunning shock" to learn of Searcy's death.

He said in a statement that "We have lost a loyal and understanding friend and the country a great American."

"The people of this state will sorely miss the man who devoted a lifetime to service in their interest," Stratton said.

Chief Justice George W. Bristow of the Illinois Supreme Court, hailed Searcy for his "courteous, efficient and statesmanlike manner."

Bristow said the court may decide today on a temporary successor to Searcy.

"We couldn't legally function without a clerk," he said.

Bristow said the temporary appointment would probably be made from Searcy's staff, headed by Allen T. Smith and L. Murray Pipkin.

Due to the brevity of Searcy's unexpired term, a special primary and election probably will not be held, he added.

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Funeral services for Earle Benjamin Searcy, clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court, will be held at the First Christian Church here Wednesday.

The body will be taken to the Searcy home where friends may call from 4 to 9 p. m. today. The body will be removed to the church at 10 a. m. Wednesday. Burial will be in Oak Ridge Cemetery.

Corsi Ousted As Unqualified, Dulles Claims

Denies Removal Because of Charges By Rep. Walter

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that Edward J. Corsi was ousted as his special adviser on refugee matters principally because he was not qualified to press forward with administration of the refugee relief act.

He denied that he removed Corsi because of charges by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) that Corsi had had associations with subversive groups. Corsi has denied Walter's charges. Dulles said today he found no security question about Corsi.

Dulles also told a news conference that his respect for and loyalty to Scott McLeod, head of the department's Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, remains unshaken.

Corsi has attacked both Walter and McLeod in the repercussions of his ouster.

Didn't Tell Corsi

Dulles conceded that he never bothered telling Corsi that Corsi's appointment as special assistant—a job Dulles called sensitive—could be only for 90 days if Corsi's security investigation were not completed by that time. He said that the State Department may have been guilty of a degree of culpability for that failure.

But Dulles said the 90-day rule was a general government rule applying on sensitive positions and he thought it was generally known. He said maybe Corsi himself was culpable for not knowing about that.

Corsi was hired Jan. 10 as Dulles' special assistant on migration and refugee problems. He was told only last week that he could continue in the post only until last Sunday because of the 90-day rule.

In a statement Monday, Corsi charged that the refugee program is being "sabotaged" by an "intolerant minority both in Congress and within the State Department."

This was aimed mainly at Walter and McLeod.

The Italian-born New Yorker was named special assistant to Dulles on immigration and refugee matters last Jan. 10. He was told last week that his security investigation had not been completed and that he would have to be dropped from the post last Sunday, 90 days after the appointment became effective.

No Security Risk

Dulles said, however, that it was not a matter of a questionable security status and offered Corsi another post. Corsi bluntly turned the substitute job down Monday in a bitter letter to Dulles.

The State Department said it originally offered Corsi a post as deputy administrator of the refugee relief program under McLeod but that Corsi insisted on an advisory role, which was a "phony" double-talking, double-dealing statement.

Home Bureau Asks

Donation of White Goods For Cancer Bandages

An appeal has been issued by the Home Bureau for donations of white goods, to be used in preparing bandages and surgical dressings for the local chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Home Bureau units make up bandages and dressings from materials such as sheets, pillowcases, shirts, and other articles of white goods which are donated to the society. Last year the society dispensed almost 5,000 surgical dressings to cancer patients in Saline county, and it is highly probable that at least that many will be needed again this year.

The Home Bureau units are hopeful of receiving enough donations of white goods that they can make up a large enough supply to last through the summer. Persons who have any such materials which they would be willing to donate can call the Saline County Home Bureau office, phone 771, or Skaggs Electric, phone 37.

REPORTS ON POLIO VACCINE—Dr. and Mrs. Jonas E. Salk arrived at Ann Arbor, Mich., with their children, Peter, 11, Jonathan, 5, and Darrell, 7, to hear the verdict on the effectiveness of Dr. Salk's polio vaccine. Dr. Salk said "my own children were among the first to receive inoculations soon after I started the tests on human beings."

Surprise Blizzard Hits Plains States; Winds Kick Up Dust Storms, Tornado

By United Press

A surprise April blizzard hit the northern Plains today, the second one in a week, while 90-mile-an-hour winds coursed across the Southwest, kicking up dust storms and a tornado.

The freak snowstorm hit Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska without warning, trapping scores of motorists on driftbound roads and isolating many communities including the Wyoming state capital of Cheyenne.

Wild winds hit Oklahoma and Texas with gusts up to 90 miles an hour.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration at Pine Bluff, Ark., reported that a tornado had been sighted at Noble Lake, Ark., 10 miles southeast of Pine Bluff. The report was not confirmed immediately.

Wheat Farmers Happy

Despite the inconvenience caused by the snowstorm, which hit a depth of 15 inches at Kimball, Neb., plainmen were happy about the benefit the moisture would furnish for drought-stricken wheatlands.

The snow was still falling over much of the area today. East of the snowbelt drizzling rain fell.

Residents of Sydney, Neb., said the snow was accompanied there by a weird display of lightning and the crashing of thunder.

The new storm hit just a week after the worst blizzard in history ever to hit the eastern Rockies and upper Plains. That storm dumped up to 40 inches of snow on some communities.

Early today, two railroad section hands rescued six children from a school bus where they had been marooned with the driver near the Nebraska-Wyoming line.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Norbert Tuck of Cheyenne and five deputies, trying to reach the children, were themselves trapped about 12 miles out of town.

Six other marooned school buses were located in Wyoming and Colorado by midnight Monday.

The blizzard routed balmy weather which had pushed temperatures into the 70s in the Nebraska Panhandle.

Farther East, however, the weather was still ideal. New York's 79.8 degrees Monday equaled an 1887 record and lured an estimated 10,000 sun bathers and waders to Jones Beach.

SIU Officials, Stratton Confer On School Funds

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U.P.)—Top officials of Southern Illinois university have conferred with Gov. William Stratton about the school's financial plight.

SIU President D. W. Morris headed a group which met with Stratton in Springfield Monday. Also present were John Wham, Centralia, chairman of the board of trustees of the school, Lindell Sturgis, Metropolis, Melvin Lockard, Cobden, members of the board of trustees, and State Sen. R. G. Crisberry, Murphysboro.

The group reported that Stratton was "reasonable and sympathetic" concerning the SIU request for funds. The university asked for operating funds of 16 1/2 million dollars for the next two years.

Morris told the governor Southern Illinois university's financial problem was caused by what Morris termed "phenomenal increase in enrollment." He said the enrollment has grown much faster than the increase in appropriations.

Wham told the governor SIU cannot continue to expand and maintain the quality of its instructional program without a large increase in operating funds.

Stratton suggested that a decision on the SIU financial problem be delayed until next week.

Tire Blows Off Rim, Service Station Employee Is Injured

William E. Brown, 19, employed at Leo Richmond's service station at Granger and Sloan, suffered a hand injury shortly before noon today when a tire blew off a rim.

Mr. Richmond said that the youth had just put a new tire on the rim and apparently it was not even because the tire came off, bursting Brown's hand open.

Brown was taken to Lightner hospital for treatment.

Auto, Bus Collide

An auto driven by Sneed Jordan and the Eldorado-Harrisburg Carrier Mills bus, operated by John Wettaw, collided at 11:30 a. m. today on the square as the bus pulled out from its parking place. Chief of Police Loren Travelstead reported.

Gov't to Give Go-Ahead for Sale of Vaccine

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Health, Education and Welfare Department will issue licenses for commercial sale of the Salk polio vaccine late today.

Still to be announced was what qualifications, if any, would be put on use of the vaccine. That will be settled, however, by the time Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby signs the licenses giving manufacturers the go-ahead to put the vaccine on the market.

The licensing of the vaccine was held up to await the Francis report on its effectiveness in mass tests among school children last year. It was released today. The biologists control laboratory also had to approve the vaccine's safety, purity and potency.

No licenses were required for last year's mass inoculations because the program was conducted as an experiment to see if the new vaccine worked.

The government laboratory, which must approve all biological products in general use, has been running laboratory tests on the Salk vaccine for some time. It also has been checking with drug firms on their manufacturing process.

The Public Health Service wants a quick verdict so no time will be wasted in producing the vaccine if it wins approval.

The "season" for polio already is starting. So far this year, polio cases are running well below last year. From Jan. 1 through April 2, a total of 1,064 new cases were reported, compared with 1,533 for a comparable period of last year.

Vaccine Report On Anniversary Of FDR's Death

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U.P.)—The official report on the value of the Salk anti-polio vaccine was made on the tenth anniversary of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt—and it was no coincidence.

Mr. Roosevelt's own affliction with the crippling disease made possible the years of expensive research, which culminated with the vaccine.

He was founder of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation since its inception and once Mr. Roosevelt's law partner, has always been inspired by "my friend, Frank."

It was O'Connor who saw to it that today's announcement was made today—and was a commemoration of his friend's memory.

Effingham High School Band to Present Concert At HTHS Tomorrow

The Effingham high school band, which is taking a spring tour to Tennessee, will present a concert at the Harrisburg Township high school tomorrow during the regular assembly hour at 10:20 a. m.

The band is under the direction of Everett Crane, former band director at HTHS during the years 1938 through 1943. In addition to the band, a choral group will sing. There are 75 members in all.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

During the noon hour the Effingham students will be entertained with a carry-in luncheon sponsored by the Harrisburg band and chorus members.

Long-Awaited Results Hailed By Medical Ass'n

Report Given After Long Study of Mass Testing

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U.P.)—The Salk anti-polio vaccine today was pronounced safe and effective.

The long-awaited results, hailed immediately by the American Medical Assn. as "one of the greatest events in the history of medicine," showed the vaccine was 80 to 90 per cent effective.

"Those were the first words announcing the results of a thoroughly scientific evaluation of last spring's mass testing among more than 1,800,000 children."

Among the 460,000 children who actually received the vaccine, only one died. This child succumbed after a tonsillectomy which was performed two days after he received the second in the series of three anti-polio shots.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., professor of immunology of the University of Michigan, who directed the study of the results, made his momentous 113-page report at a specially invoked scientific meeting.

Good News From Salk

Simultaneously, Dr. Jonas E. Salk, creator of the vaccine, revealed at the meeting that 13 million more children than had been anticipated will be able to receive the anti-polio vaccine before this year's polio season begins.

Salk said his latest experiments showed that at least seven months should pass between the second and third "shots" of the vaccine to produce maximum and most lasting effects. That means enough vaccine will be available to raise from 39 million to 52 million the number of children who can be protected this summer.

They would receive two shots which would protect them through this summer and would receive the final shot next winter, when ample supplies of the vaccine should be available.

Most significant in Dr. Francis' long and complex report was the data showing that the vaccine is particularly effective—80 to 90 per cent—against the paralytic or fatal type of polio.

Strangely enough, it proved least effective against the non-paralytic type of polio, the least to be feared among the three types of polio viruses.

Must Consider Incidence

However, the statistics here need to be focused against the incidence figures for the three types of polio viruses.

Type one virus accounts for 65 per cent of all polio cases. Type two virus accounts for 5 per cent, and type three accounts for the remaining 30 per cent.

"From this data it is not possible to select a single value giving numerical expression in a complete

National Foundation To Transfer Activities To New Health Field

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U.P.)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which spent 15 million dollars collected from the American people for development and testing the Salk vaccine, will not go out of business.

Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation, said the group's activities would be switched to some other field. The new field may be mental health, he said, but it has not been definitely decided.

Salk Research Paid By March of Dimes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (U.P.)—The Salk anti-polio vaccine cost 10-million dollars and every penny of it came directly from the American people, through their "March of Dimes" contributions.

Last spring's mass testing cost 7 1/2-million dollars. The evaluation which was announced today, cost $890,000. Scientific development of the vaccine cost around 1-million dollars and various miscellaneous expenses brought the total up to 10-million dollars.

Wide Open Field

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
We live in a country that depends more and more on technical advances, not only for its safety in a hostile world but for its economic well-being. Yet apparently we are not developing enough technicians to keep pace with our expanding needs.

According to the United States
Office of Education, American colleges this spring will turn out about 23,000 engineering graduates.
That may sound like quite a few,
but in fact it's less than five per cent more than represented in the class of 1954 — which was a postwar low.

Worse still, our principal competitors, the Russians, are reliably reported to be producing more than 50,000 new engineers a year.
And the word is they are stepping up the total.

America's production of technical men looks even sadder when set beside the projected need. An organization known as the Engineering Manpower Commission estimates the total 1955 need for new engineers at from 45,000 to 70,000.
So our deficit in this field as of June this year will range from 20, 000 to 47,000, depending on whether one wishes to be conservative or liberal.

The commission foresees some rise in the number of U.S. engineering graduates, perhaps to 35,000 a year by 1965. But meantime our need undoubtedly will have gone on increasing, and this total still will be inadequate.

Now we can't force more people to study engineering, as the Russians can whenever they decide to boost the pace. But there must be many things we can properly do to increase interest in engineering
among our young men.

It is a field bulging with opportunities. Engineering in exciting new areas like atomic energy and electronics beckons brightly to many. The men who work in these and other developing new fields will quite literally hold a considerable part of the future of this country in their hands.

Concerted effort should be made by both government and industry to lift our output of engineers to a level closer to our true need.
Scholarships and financial aids of other sorts should be offered on an increasing scale. Much more should be said publicly about the engineering shortage, especially by men in high places who have the responsibility for advancing this nation's welfare.

And while we are making the country more aware of the problem, we should endeavor to halt
the considerable waste of good engineering manpower which somehow or other has been shunted off into other work.

Some say many engineers are performing nontechnical jobs in the Army. A fair reservoir of talented men may exist among foreign refugees admitted to this country. A West Coast firm recently found one, an Austrian, who had been working as a bus boy.

We think of ourselves as the greatest technical masters of modern day. If we are now, we won't be for long unless we find ways to make up this serious deficiency in engineering manpower.

Political Expediency

If there's any idea that political expediency is a peculiarly American thing, one needs only to observe what the British Labor Party did recently with respect to its bad boy, leftwinger Aneurin Bevan.
Bevan earlier had been bounced
from the party's parliamentary group for contemptuously challenging the Labor leader, Clement Attlee, in public. But the party didn't vote full expulsion. Later, when he apologized, its national committee decided to accept his pledge of future good behavior.

The reason the ouster move was stopped in midstream: to throw Bevan all the way out would be greatly to sharpen the already deep split in the party ranks and probably to make the Laborites easy victims of the Conservatives in the likely event they call an election
this year.

Retired Farmer Is Fatally Injured

ry County farmer was injured fatally when struck by a car Monday.

The victim was Henry Waldman, 72, who lived on a farm south of man was leaving a mail box across from his home on U. S. 51 when a car driven by Nelo Lundeen, 55,

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ten Years Have Changed Many Things Since Roosevelt Passed Away: Washington Was Empty
After He Died; Roosevelt Was Not Afraid To Make Decisions.

WASHINGTON. — A lot of things have happened since that day ten years ago when FDR passed away.
It was an April day, full of hope and sunshine. A great war was about to be won. Everyone could feel it. Peace was just around the corner. The big things he had fought for were almost within reach. . . . And then his body came home—came back on a flag-draped caisson from Georgia, came slowly down Pennsylvania Avenue up which he had driven four times to take the oath as President.

The town seemed empty after that. And a little numb. Actually, FDR hadn't been around much that winter. He was in Warm Springs after his election, in Hyde Park for Christmas, then to Yalta, then back to Hyde Park, then to Warm Springs again — then back to Washington to lie in the East Room of the White House—silent and alone. . . . But even though he had been away, people always felt that he was here, that he had his hands on things, and so the town was empty. Even the guards around the public buildings, the folks who sit on park benches, the elevator operators, the taxi drivers, seemed a little lost. For Roosevelt was their President. They felt he was working for them. And they knew they had lost a friend.

The little man who took his place, a humble man, was in Sam Rayburn's office late in the afternoon when he got a phone call to come to the White House immediately. White-faced and grim, he left. He knew what the call meant.
. . . At the White House later Harry Truman took the oath of office
as President of the United States.
The cabinet stood by shocked and shaken. Miss Perkins, who had known FDR since their early reform days in Albany, broke down and wept. Henry L. Stimson, a Republican who had served in three cabinets and who once had battled against young FDR in New York State, also wept—unabashed.

He had opposed Roosevelt on domestic issues, served in his cabinet on national issues. . . . Henry Morgenthau looked ten years older. The new President, shaken, nervous, finally went home to his apartment, suddenly discovered he was hungry, the icebox was empty, so a neighbor brought in roast beef and ice cream. Thus, after 12 years under one President, a new administration began to function.

THE FUNERAL
The funeral train that carried FDR to Hyde Park was crowded with cabinet members and old friends. They stayed awake most of the night. Outside as the train passed were bonfires, people standing, waiting to pay homage to the last visible remains of their dead leader. All night through Philadelphia, Trenton, Newark,
New York, people stood along the tracks. . . . At Hyde Park the cabinet and the Supreme Court stood on one side of the rose garden, opposite the grave. The new President stood on the other side. With him were Mike Riley of the Secret Service, Mrs. Truman—and Jimmie Byrnes. Jimmie, who had left Washington, supposedly for good, just two weeks before, had hastily flown back to board the funeral train. . . . taps were blown.
A West Point cadet handed Mrs.
Roosevelt the flag which had been draped over her husband's bier.
She bore up well. . . . the dead
President was lowered into his grave.

That night as the special train rolled back to Washington, Harry Truman spent most of his time
with three men — Jimmie Byrnes, Ed Pauley, George Allen. Of these, only Pauley, the California
oil man, continues close to him.
Byrnes, whom Truman appointed to the highest cabinet post, has fought him bitterly, tried to carry South Carolina for Eisenhower
last year.

George Allen, who was given high honor by Truman and a lush job in the RFC, is now Eisenhower's partner in the farm at Gettysburg and in a Howard Johnson restaurant.
CHURCHILL ERRED AT YALTA
So times have changed. The man who succeeded Roosevelt is now out of office, the man whom Roosevelt made commanding general in Europe is in office; and when the Yalta records were released, few people whom he had befriended, few he promoted to high office, rose to defend his good name. . . . In contrast, Winston Churchill, who was equally perhaps more to blame for the mistakes at Yalta, retired last week in a blaze of glory. He lived to defend himself. . . . some years ago, before he came back as prime minister, Churchill confided to a friend that he wished he had passed on as Roosevelt did at the height of victory, at the glorious climax of the war. . . . However, he lived to enjoy other glories.

lived to defend himself, and I for one am glad he did. . . . No one attacked Churchill for the mistakes he made at Yalta. They attacked the dead man who could not defend himself.

FDR did not promote me to high office, did me no favors. He fired my father, a Republican appointed governor of the Virgin Islands by Hoover, and once in the heat of battle he called me a liar. . . . However, I rise to defend some of his great qualities. . . .
When he was President, he ran the show. He made decisions. He did not pass the buck. He looked far ahead, saw events before they happened. . . . He knew war was inevitable and began preparing for it. . . . When people were hungry he tried to feed them. When people were jobless, he found them work. He set up machinery for protecting the public which has not been and will not be changed today. . . . Sometimes he made mistakes. The NRA he recognized as one of his mistakes. . . . Sometimes he did things that were illegal. When Hitler threatened England in 1940 after France fell,
and the British lost most of their arms at Dunkirk, FDR emptied
our arsenals. In one bold stroke
he sent all our arms to England.
He knew what the political consequences would be if his gesture failed. For he acted without OK from Congress. But he also knew the consequences to the free world
if England fell. He acted illegally. But he acted. And England was saved. . . . I remember 1933 how poverty-stricken veterans came straggling into Washington,
a few at a time. Herbert Hoover let them pile up — until an army of 20,000 was driven out of Washington by tanks and cavalry. . . .
FDR collected them as they came to Washington, a dozen at a time, took them to Ft. Hunt, fed them, sent them back home to WPA officials to get jobs. . . . veterans continued to straggle in during the early days of his administration
but he never let a bonus army pile up in the nation's capital.

Illinois Sales Tax Collections Up Fourth Straight Month

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)— Illinois
sales tax collections have continued an upward trend for the fourth straight month, State Revenue Di-

brought in $9,736,833 during March,
compared with $9,559,170 in March, 1954. Total collections of the sales tax, gas tax and from five other tax sources in the first quarter of 1955 were $32,926,973, against $31, 860,314 in 1954.

Social Security Laws Discussed at Rotary Meeting

An interesting and informative
discussion of present Social Security laws and procedures was presented by Joe Hesselgrave, assistant district manager of the Harrisburg area, yesterday noon at the regular meeting of Rotarians.
Mr. Hesselgrave, who has served the government for 17 years, was introduced as speaker by Millard
"Pusher" Lynch. Prior to joining the local group, Hesselgrave served at Baltimore, Indianapolis
and Cairo.

The speaker reminded that this year some 10 million new workers were being brought under Social Security for the first time. These include self-employed farm operators, clergymen, and certain other professional peoples.

Hesselgrave discussed the quarterly basis upon which the program operates and referred his listeners to little booklets, provided by the government, and giving a comprehensive view of the functions of the law.

The booklet also lists tables by which individual members of the group were enabled to determine their status. The speaker gave some hypothetical cases and answered questions on specific problems on incidents asked by listeners.

During the business session,
members voted upon a board of directors for next year. Those elected to serve were Bill Hopkins, Ed Kirkpatrick, Millard Lynch, Russell Malan and Rev. Joe Morman.

Could you improve on the nail?

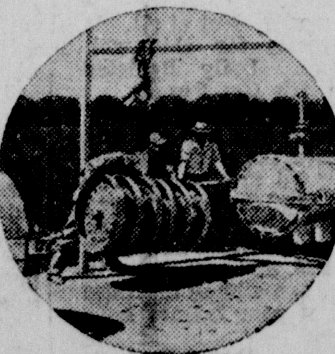

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

A giant ladle pours 65 tons of iron into a natural gas-fired open hearth furnace. When further processed this will supply enough steel to make nails for 500 six-room houses. Natural gas is supplied U. S. Steel's Donora Steel and Wire Works by Equitable Gas Company and The Peoples Natural Gas Company, both customers of Texas Eastern.

To join two pieces of wood together quickly, firmly and economically
— you still can't beat the humble nail. In fact, nails do such a good job, that last year this country produced 1,680,000,000 pounds of them!
Mass production of high quality steel nails is possible only because of modern production methods, such as natural gas-fired reheating and open hearth furnaces. U. S. Steel's American Steel & Wire Division at Donora, Pennsylvania, uses natural gas because it is clean . . . economical
... and the necessary high temperatures can be exactly controlled. An adequate and long-range supply of natural gas is being made available to Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern plants by Texas Eastern.

Says Committees Near Agreement On Redistricting

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Rep. Arthur W. Sprague said today that Illinois House and Senate committees are only one step away from completing an "agreed" bill to redistrict the Legislature.

The La Grange Republican, chairman of a special House committee on the subject, said the finishing touches may be applied by Wednesday night and the bill may be submitted next week.

A constitutional amendment okayed by the voters in 1954 requires the 1955 Legislature to draw a new map of legislative districts. There will be 59 House districts and 58 for the Senate.

The House named a special committee headed by Sprague to tackle the job of drafting proposed House districts. In the Senate, the chore of drawing new Senate district boundaries is being handled by the standing committee on elections and reapportionment.

Sprague said his committee would meet immediately after the House session today and may be able to release a map showing its proposal at the close of that meeting.

He said the only step still to be completed by either committee is drafting Senate districts in Chicago. This is in the hands of Senate Minority Leader William J. Lynch (D-Chicago), who hopes to have his proposal ready by Wednesday night, Sprague said.

The separate proposals will be combined into one bill for submission to the Legislature. Sprague reported the legislative reference bureau already is drawing up the bill in proper form.

Plans to Expand Scouting Outlined To Lions Club

Plans for an expanded Boy Scout program in southern Illinois were discussed by Robert Krejci, executive of the Egyptian Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Monday night's meeting of the Harrisburg Lions club.

A four-point program has been adopted by the council officials as follows: 1. To increase scouting units; 2. Get Scouts into community service; 3. To expand the program of activities; 4. To give on-the-spot assistance to Scout units.

At the present time only 2,696 boys in the 15 counties included in the Egyptian Council are enrolled in scouting. If the area had the number enrolled per population ratio compared with the national enrollment there would be 7,636 Boy Scouts in the Egyptian Council, the speaker declared.

"We need to increase the number of Scout units, get the boys into community service, increase the activities for the boys and all this can be accomplished when the council can give the communities on-the-spot help. This we can do when we are able to afford additional field executives," it was stated.

The annual finance campaign of the Egyptian Council, BSA, is now underway and the Harrisburg Lions club voted to assist in the campaign, following the discussion by Scout Executive Krejci.

Predicts Federal Prison to Be Built Near Springfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Bennett, Bureau of Prisons director, predicted today that a new maximum security federal penitentiary with a capacity for 600 inmates will be built within four years near Springfield, Ill.

Bennett, in an article written in the prison service's semi-monthly newsletter, said Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. has asked for funds to construct the new prison.

Its location has not been determined, Bennett said, "but no doubt it will be close to the population center of the country which is near Springfield, Ill."

He also said the amount sought from the Budget Bureau has not been revealed.

Dust or some other minute foreign body is necessary for the formation of a raindrop.

Stratton Asks AEC to Expedite Uranium Tests

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton asked the Atomic Energy Commission today to expedite uranium tests of samples taken at Medora in Macoupin County.

Rep. William Lyons (D-Gillespie) joined by Rep. Pauline B. Rinaker and Sen. W. P. Cuthbertson, both Carlinville Republicans, asked the governor to step into the matter.

A well-digger reported last week that he had found ore samples in the Medora area which had a radioactive content when tested by a private laboratory in the East.

Lyons called on Stratton to ask that he arrange for tests of samples by the AEC laboratories. Stratton's office said he telephoned AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss and Strauss told him to have the samples sent to an AEC laboratory in New York. Air transportation was arranged.

Be Apostles of Peace, Ike Asks Citadel Cadets

CHARLESTON, S. C. — President Eisenhower stood on the sultry parade ground of one of America's oldest military schools today and admonished cadets of the Citadel to prepare themselves as "the principal apostles of peace."

The President offered as an answer to war, a broader knowledge of each other and among nations. He stopped here at the Citadel to accept an honorary doctor of laws degree from his old comrade in arms, Gen. Mark W. Clark, head of the school, Mr. Eisenhower then continued on by plane to Augusta, Ga., where he plans a golfing holiday of about a week.

Mrs. Eisenhower usually has accompanied the President on the spring trip. She gave it up this year to stay at Gettysburg and supervise the furnishing and landscaping of their new house.

Although accompanied only by a small staff, the President intends to do some work on his vacation. He will put the finishing touches on a special message to Congress next week outlining the administration's mutual security program for the coming year.

Mr. Eisenhower is scheduled to return to Washington the afternoon of April 20.

Lopez Gets New 2-Year Contract

CLEVELAND, Ohio — A "very happy" Al Lopez confidently set the 1955 baseball world championship as his target today, as he began work on a new two-year contract that caught him by surprise.

The Cleveland Indians' popular little skipper was conferring with team General Manager Hank Greenberg Monday morning when Greenberg suddenly offered Al a new contract. It is believed to call for $45,000 a year, instead of the present $40,000.

"I'm very satisfied, very happy," beamed Lopez. The manager of the American League champions still had one year to go under his existing two-year pact.

"I guess I've won just about everything now but the World Series," observed Lopez. "And that's the target for this year. It makes a fellow feel good knowing he has the club behind him like I do."

Expedition's Budget

The Lewis and Clark expedition was made on a budget of $2500. There were 31 men in the official party, which went from the Mississippi River to the Pacific coast and back again, with the trip lasting from May, 1804, to September, 1806.

The mainland area of Australia is 2,948,366 square miles.

Eisenhower Will Not Run in 1956 If He Follows Own Inclinations, Writer Says

WASHINGTON — Merriman Smith, United Press White House reporter, expresses the belief in a book published today that President Eisenhower will not seek re-election in 1956 if he is free then to follow the inclinations he has now.

Smith gives his reasons for this belief, and at the same time lists factors which could lead to a second term race, in a volume of close-up observations about Mr. Eisenhower's transition from five-star general to civilian head of government.

The book is "Meet Mister Eisenhower" (Harper; $3.50). It gives behind-the-scenes glimpses of the President and reporters at work and at play. It includes an authoritative account of how Mr. Eisenhower feels at midterm about his job, his achievements and the future course of the nation.

Writer Lists Reasons

Smith, White House reporter since 1941, believes that Mr. Eisenhower doesn't want to run for a second term. Among the reasons he cites: The President's age (he would be 66 at start of a second term), his "distaste" for politics, a yearning to retire to his Gettysburg farm, and Mrs. Eisenhower's health.

"She (Mrs. Eisenhower) is not a robust woman and she finds the hours and the work, particularly during the social season, definitely fatiguing," Smith writes.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, might seek re-election "if he were convinced, whether by his own reasoning or the pleas of others, that his continued presence at the American helm might be essential to preserving the peace or winning a war."

But "barring tensions, pressures and dangers which cannot be foreseen or measured at the present," Smith concludes, "my guess is that he will run again — right straight for Gettysburg."

A Good Foundation

Mr. Eisenhower has indicated that he doesn't intend to tell anyone his intentions until next spring. Most Republican politicians have expressed confidence they will be able to persuade him to run again.

In reporting how Mr. Eisenhower feels at midterm, Smith says the President believes the first two years produced a good foundation for his basic program.

"He felt that the greatest measure of the success of his first two years was that the world had pulled back considerably from the brink of another major war," Smith writes. "Foreign affairs continued to dominate his thinking and planning."

"Meet Mister Eisenhower" is Smith's third book. The previous ones—"Thank You, Mr. President" and "The President Is Many Men"—deal with Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

Rain Forces Postponement Of Home Opening Games for Yankees, Phillies, Dodgers

By United Press
A steady rain forced postponement Tuesday of the scheduled home opening games of the New York Yankees, Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Yankees were scheduled to play the Washington Senators, the Phils were pitted against the world champion New York Giants and the Dodgers against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Opening day ceremonies in each city were re-scheduled for Wednesday against the same opponents.

The weather also was threatening in Baltimore, where the Orioles were scheduled to play the Boston Red Sox; at Kansas City, where the Athletics faced the Detroit Tigers in their debut; and at Milwaukee, where the Braves faced the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Cleveland Indians opened at home against the Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Cubs entertained the St. Louis Cardinals in the other scheduled game.

Harry Still Hitches

There'll be gala festivities all along the line but nowhere will city pride be at a higher peak than in Kansas City. A capacity crowd of 36,000 will jam the new park and Harry Truman, a former president who keeps the photographers guessing because he's ambidextrous, will handle the first pitch.

Following Mr. Truman's toss, Manager Lou Boudreau will send left-hander Alex Kellner to the mound against Detroit's Ned Garver. Kellner had a 6-17 record last season while Garver's mark was 14-11.

The Indians, who won an A. L. record of 111 games last season, are sending 28-game winner Bob Lemon against 19-game winner Virgil Trucks of the White Sox; to-ing Frank Sullivan, a 15-game winner in 1954, pitches for the Red Sox against Joe Coleman (13-17) of the Orioles and Mickey McDermott (7-15) is the Senators' nominee against the Yankees' 16-game winner, Whitey Ford.

Antonelli Duels Roberts

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who won 21 games last year, toes the mound for the Giants against the crippled Phillies, who are counter-ing with 23-game winner Robin Roberts. Max Surkont (9-18) opposes Carl Erskine (18-15) in the Pittsburgh-Brooklyn opener; Gerry Staley (7-13) of the Redlegs faces Milwaukee's 21-game winner Warren Spahn and Brooks Lawrence, 15-game winner of the St. Louis Cards, pitches against Paul Miner (11-11) of the Cubs in N. L. openers.

With a former president, several governors and mayors on hand, there are plenty of potential show-stoppers but it isn't likely that there'll be one to match the inaugural performance turned in by the sore-armed Mr. Eisenhower Monday.

Mr. Eisenhower played his part like an "old pro" as the Washington Senators scored a 12-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Porterfield Wins First
Bob Porterfield treated the President to some first class pitching, holding the Orioles to six hits and yielding only two earned runs. Lou Kretlow, Paul Richards' surprise nomination, suffered the defeat.

Rookie catcher Harry Chitt and A. L. castoff pitcher Sam Jones provided the heroics as the Chicago Cubs stamped Cincinnati's 71st "advance opener" with a 7-5 triumph over the Redlegs. Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio presided over the opening ceremonies with an assist from Mayor Carl Rich.

BIG LEAGUE ROOKIES ... No. 11

Pressure on Six Rookies IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—This is the day on which six young men in brand new flannels realize their brightest dreams.

They are baseball players who finally fought their way up to the major leagues. As rookies, they may have a lump in the throat and butterflies under their belts.

But this will be the one they'll always remember — opening day and themselves in a big league lineup.

It must be very strange to Ramon Mejias, a 23-year-old Cuban who will go out there into right field for the Pirates. He doesn't speak English and when he went to spring training he was a complete unknown. But Ramon hit just the way he did for Waco in the Class B Big State league, where he batted .354 and hit safely in 55 straight games. So he gets his chance.

Pressure on Birds

The pressure rides even harder on two freshmen with the Cardinals. Third baseman Ken Boyer and center fielder Bill Virdon must conquer the dread of an extravagant buildup.

Boyer, a 24-year-old out of Liberty, Mo., has been tagged a "second pie Traynor." Virdon, 23, from West Plains, Mo., is rated an even better rookie prospect than Wally Moon, who was rookie of the year last season. They have the size and the background. Virdon, a 175-pound 6-footer, was the International league batting champion with .333 at Rochester. Boyer, 6-foot-2 and 190 pounds, hit .319 at Houston. Big things have been predicted, too, for J. W. Porter, a 22-year-old outfielder who goes into left field for Detroit. A raw-boned, 6-foot-2 Oklahoman, the freckled Porter is home from Army service.

Five Rookies 'Baptized'
There's less pressure, but no less desire, with Boston's Norbert Zau-chin and Kansas City's Jack Little.

Zauchin, a 25-year-old first baseman, moves well around the bag despite his 6-foot, 4-inch frame and 220 pounds. A Detroit'er, he hit .289 at Louisville last season and led the American Association in runs, batted in.

Little, a 26-year-old shortstop out of Louisville, is a stringy 179 pounds on a 6-foot frame. His forte is defense, for he hit but .233 at Ottawa last season.

Five other rookies had their thrill of being in the opening day lineup Monday, catcher Hal Smith and second baseman Don Leppert with Baltimore; shortstop Bob Kline of Washington, and the Cubs' Harry Chitt, a catcher, and center fielder Gale Wade.

But for the waiting six, the big league baptism as an opening day starter is still ahead. For them it's the big chance and the bright dream, but with these go doubt and apprehension, too.

Which, combined, make for a day they'll always remember!

Ted Atkinson to Ride Nashau as Arcaro Suspended

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Atkinson will have the assignment on Belair Stud's Nashau in the $100,000 added Wood Memorial at Jamaica on April 23, because of back-to-back suspensions to regular rider Eddie Arcaro.

Arcaro was handed a 10-day suspension by the Bowie Stewards Monday which will keep him out until May 4, but he'll be back in harness in time to ride Nashau, the Kentucky Derby favorite, in the "Run for the Roses" at Churchill Downs, May 7.

The Maryland suspension came on the heels of one meted out by the Jamaica stewards for a similar infraction—interference—which begins today and runs through to April 21. The Bowie suspension picks up the following day.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, Nashau's trainer, immediately engaged Atkinson to ride his charge in the Wood upon hearing Arcaro's second suspension. The Wood is the last major prep for Eastern Kentucky Derby hopefuls and is a rich prize in itself.

Olson-Maxim Bout in San Francisco On April 13 Will Get No Awards

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—When Bobo Olson and Joey Maxim square off in San Francisco and on the television set April 13, it will show whether the middleweight champion can handle the bigger fellows, especially old Archie Moore.

That is all spectators figure to see, however, for the brand of fighting produced by this 10-rounder should be as dull as an overworked razor blade. The bout is strictly for gymnasium railbirds. The person who likes blood and battering is likely to growl in complete dissatisfaction when the subtle talents of Olson and Maxim fail to show on the screen.

Yet the liniment and cigar set look forward to the pairing eagerly. Olson's always busy fists don't escape their notice and his body bending right hand to the liver—a nasty punch—is hailed as a rare weapon among today's fighters.

Maxim, too, is not underrated. To the average fight fan, the former light-heavyweight leader represents everything they dislike. He can't punch, has a made-in-Detroit clutch and, as a bout wears on, is as boring as an after-dinner speaker.

The popular notion is that Olson will destroy the 33-year-old Cleveland delicatessen guy and then move at Moore, the 175-pound king, in a huge money match. Bobo, you see, at least generates some excitement in connection with such a show.

But you can get all kinds of action on the Olson-Maxim shindig. Maxim is rated no worse than even money. Jack Kearns' meal ticket has been beaten, in his long career, only by such as Ezzard Charles and Moore.

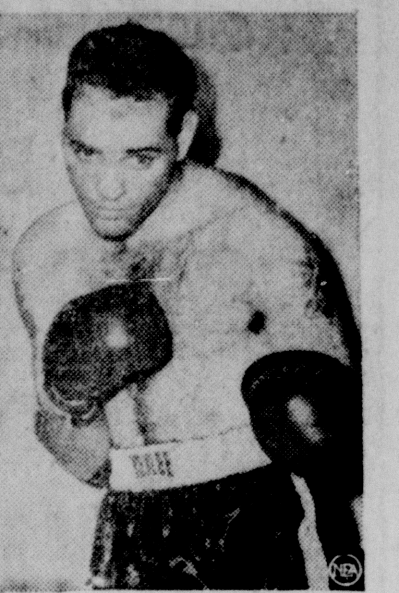

The last three times he was supposed to be annihilated, Old Joey let Sugar Ray Robinson collapse, outboxed and outfoxed rising Floyd Patterson and took Paul Andrews in hand.

He's a crafty guy, this Maxim. Against Olson, his pattern will be simple. He'll toss a few of those left jabs, then embrace Bobo. But it won't be a fond caress. Instead, Joey will do his best to yank the lighter Olson's arms from their sockets. While doing so, he can be expected to sprawl over Bobo in an effort to tire the middleweight king.

Olson will come in at an acceptable 169 pounds and a seven-year edge in age and can be expected to do his best to out-tussle Joey in the early going, then out-hustle him in the later rounds.

Neither can punch enough to disturb an air current and Olson's aforementioned liver blow will receive a severe testing from Maxim's sturdy body, which has never caved in under the most powerful thumping.

The match amounts to a simple test of whether Olson's dreams of going for the light-heavyweight championship should be reserved for his sleeping hours or should be put into action.

Bobo Olson

You won't like watching it, but from a dyed-in-the-smoke boxing viewpoint, it's a honey.

Parallel Lives Led by Morman Brothers, Pastor, Evangelist at First Baptist Church

Rev. James O. Morman

The lives of James O. Morman, 44, who is to be the evangelist for the revival at Harrisburg First Baptist church beginning Wednesday night, April 13, and Joe Morman, 39, the pastor, have been led in much the same way.

The two brothers, both natives of Port Arthur, Texas, attended the same schools in that city, Joe following James O. by five years. Both men were led to Christ under the ministry of Oscar Perkins, Memorial church, Port Arthur, Texas.

Upon graduation James was employed by Gulf Oil company of Port Arthur and had worked there five years when he felt the call to preach. He quit the refinery and enrolled in Baylor university.

The year James started Baylor

Joe graduated from high school and immediately went to work for Gulf Oil company where his brother had been employed. Five years later Joe surrendered to the ministry and was licensed by Memorial church, the church that had licensed his brother five years before. He enrolled in Baylor, living where James had lived.

The similarity of their lives does not stop there. World War I came and the older brother entered the Army as a chaplain and was assigned to the Eleventh Airborne paratroopers. Joe joined the Army a year later and within 12 months had been assigned to the Eleventh Airborne paratroopers. Both brothers became jumpers and were nicknamed the "Parachuting Parsons."

After the war the two served in Japan for three months and were shipped home the same week.

Returning to Baylor to finish his degree, Joe was called to his first church, Harris Creek near Waco. This church had been James' first pastorate.

Finishing Southwestern Seminary, James was called to Central church, Port Arthur. Upon completion of his AB degree, Joe attended Southwestern Seminary. Upon graduation he was called to First church, Hale Center.

Both brothers led their churches in building programs that began and ended about the same time. Not long after the completion of their building programs the two were again to do similar things. They both moved to new churches.

The parallel lives ceased in the rearing of a family as Joe has two girls while James O. has two boys. The First Baptist church is looking forward to seeing these brothers work together and invites the public to its services.

The music will be under the direction of Glenn Faison, another Texan, who is the educational director at First Baptist church, Gladewater, Texas.

Mother Admits Suffocating Three Children

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — A 23-year-old mother has admitted suffocating her three small children by putting them in foot lockers and a suitcase, police said.

Mrs. Betty Thelen told her husband, Kenneth, 26, Monday that she did it because the children were "sick inside and couldn't get well."

The bodies of Kathy Susan, 3, and Theresa Clare, 2, were found in foot lockers. The body of 7-month-old Jimmy was in a suitcase.

There were no marks on the bodies, according to McDonough County Coroner Roy Lauterman. He said the children had been in the lockers and suitcase about three hours when found and that death apparently was due to suffocation.

Authorities weren't decided what type of legal action would be taken against Mrs. Thelen, but a murder complaint was filed against her so she could be kept in custody.

It was reported that the mother twice tried to kill herself in the last month.

Authorities said Mrs. Thelen apparently developed mental illness after the birth of her third child last fall. She was committed to a private sanitarium at Jacksonville, Ill., in October for several weeks and then released.

The Thelen family came here from Chicago in December, 1953, when Thelen was employed as an architect on a science building being put up at Western Illinois State College here.

Thelen said his wife never showed any violent reaction toward the children and took good care of them and their home.

Fined

Helen Goodwin today pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor following her arrest by city police and was fined $100 and costs by Police Magistrate Charles McKenzie.

Churchill Leaves For Vacation with Best Wishes of Queen

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill shed his last official cares and flew off to Sicily today with the Queen's wish of godspeed for his first vacation in 15 years as a private citizen.

The British European Airways set aside its no-cigar-smoking rule for the occasion and laid in a supply of brandy for the trip.

The former prime minister received a personal message from Queen Elizabeth II just before he departed for Catania, Sicily.

He waved his hat to well-wishers, smiled merrily and then boarded the special flight. With him went Lady Churchill, her left arm supported in a sling due to a recurrence of neuritis, and a party of 10 others.

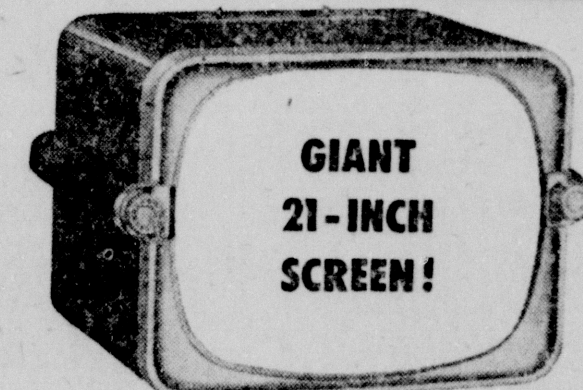

Basque is an unclassified language, its origin doubtful.
